

“Avalanche”, the season 1 prologue of the online Role-Playing Game “Winter voices” is now available for download on Steam and www.wintervoices.com

BeyondthePillars, the French game production company, announced today the release of “Winter Voices” first episode “Avalanche”. It is now available for download on Steam and www.wintervoices.com. Steam is the leading platform for digital content with over 25 million accounts around the world.

“We couldn’t be happier signing our episode series with Steam. We felt that partnering with the leading digital games network offers the best way to bring the game out to a larger audience” said Guy Levi-Bochi, BeyondthePillars’ CEO.

“Avalanche”, the introductory prologue to “Winter Voices” 7-episode season, provides between 4 and 5 hours of play. Each episode is available for 4,49€ / 4.99$ / 3,79£, from October to January 2011.

“Winter Voices” is an entertaining and pioneering game whose main female character is at grips with the phantoms of her past. The team’s editorial and creative angle is to enable the player, through the provision of regular episodes, to follow the heroine’s physical and mental journey in an adventure that is riveting to the end.

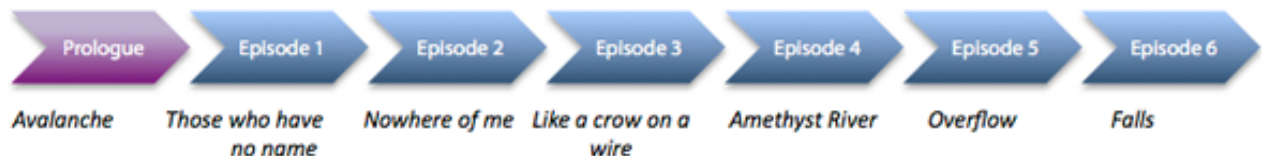

“Winter Voices” was presented to professionals at the Cologne GamesCom (Germany) last August and received good reviews including the nomination “Best RPG novelty” by RPG France

The prologue “Avalanche” was first played at the popular Festival du Jeu Vidéo in Paris (France) last September. Its innovative approach and unique game-play – defensive and psychological – were appreciated, particularly by the many games bloggers who came to meet the team

Winter Voices

Recently, Canard PC (French video games magazine) rated “Winter Voices” 8/10 while the game’s exclusive soundtrack by Balthazar Bénadon, already freely available on www.wintervoices.com, has been highly praised, particularly in Anglo-Saxon markets (GameVortex)

Beyondthepillars, an innovative challenger.

Beyondthepillars, a start-up creating digital game worlds and founded in Paris in late 2008, produces original online games for adults. The release of “Winter Voices” perfectly demonstrates the studio’s philosophy to design, develop and distribute creative and accessible games for all...

BeyondthePillars, play better to live better.

Contact Presse : Jocker - Stéphanie Bolla
sb@jocker.fr
Tel: +33 (0) 618 896 867

Communication : Beyondthepillars - Stéphanie Will stephanie.will@beyondthepillars.com
Tel: +33 (0) 630 53 70 62